

OFFENSIVE LOOSED BY 5TH ARMY AT ANZIO BEACHHEAD; ATTEMPT TO JOIN FORCES WITH ALLIED DRIVE TO NORTH

German High Command Reports Strong Attacks By Both Infantry and Tank Forces — Fighting in Cisterna-Littoria Sector

LONDON, May 23.—(INS)—Official German quarters indicated today that Fifth Army troops in the Anzio beachhead just south of Rome had loosed an expected offensive to join forces with Allied troops driving northward on the main battlefront in Italy.

Strong attacks by Allied infantry and tank forces in the beachhead were reported by the German high command.

The Cisterna-Littoria sector, named by the Nazis as one of those in which fighting took place, is on the eastern end of the Allied line. Littoria itself is some 20 miles from the northern spearhead of the Fifth Army's main group. Aprilia, the second area named as an attack zone by the Germans, is on the beachhead's northern flank along the main road from Nettuno to Rome.

An Experiment

Washington, May 20.—AN INTERESTING experiment has begun in Washington which, if it works out—and there is every reason it should work out—may establish a pattern. What is hoped is that a way has been found to save not only the time and the temper of Congress but of the many Government heads who have to deal with Congress. And, in addition, get far better results.

THE SITUATION which it is designed to correct is this: When a Government agency or department needs legislation from Congress, heretofore the procedure has been for the Government head to draft a bill and arrange for its introduction. Then the Government heads have to appear separately before the committees of House and Senate to explain the provisions and purposes of the bill and be subjected to cross examination on its merits and demerits. This would not be so bad if there were only one committee but always there are two and very often four committees—two in each branch—through which the bill has to pass.

—O—

THIS MEANS that the Government heads are literally "run ragged" rushing from one committee hearing to another, going over the same ground with two, three or four chairmen, each one of whom has a different slant, finds new objections and is susceptible to different suggestions. The fearful wear and tear upon the unfortunate Government heads of running this kind of gantlet is obvious. The distressing thing, of course, is the complete lack of co-ordination or consultation among the committees. Things the Senate committees accept without question may be rejected emphatically by the House committees. Or it may be the other way around.

—O—

THERE IS no rule by which conflicts can be avoided or tangles

JOHN F. SEARS, F. B. I. AGENT IN CHARGE OF EASTERN PENNSYLVANIA, DEALT WITH MANY VITAL PROBLEMS IN ADDRESS HERE

Following is the address of John F. Sears, Special Agent in Charge of F. B. I., Eastern Pennsylvania, which Mr. Sears delivered Sunday evening at the "I Am An American Day" observance in the Bristol High school auditorium.

Mr. Sears spoke as follows:
It is indeed considered a great privilege to have this opportunity to join with you in the observance of "I Am An American Day." Tonight we honor the heroic dead, the reported missing in action, men wounded in action, and those who have been honorably released by the armed forces from future military duty. We likewise pay tribute to the mothers of our sons and daughters who are fighting for the cause of freedom throughout the world, and pay special tribute to those mothers who have the unfortunate moment of changing their blue star to gold.

We at home have great responsibilities. We hold in trust for the men and women overseas the future security of this country. We are the guardians of the future health, safety and happiness of this great nation. Such a trust has well-defined duties of citizenship which we must recognize and continuously perform.

Tonight so we may better be able to fulfill our duty to our country and to the future, I wish to bring to your attention some of the problems which we have encountered and successfully met, and other current problems which we must handle immediately and successfully. As a law enforcement officer, charged with the responsibility of protecting the internal security of this country, I believe it only proper that I review conditions as we found them during our five years of war.

You may wonder why I say five years of war. It is because law enforcement went to war against our enemies on the home front in 1939. We were cognizant of the fact that this country would be embroiled in the present world conflict. Quietly all law enforcement organizations worked together. Meeting frequently with the respective heads of all law enforcement agencies, we laid plans to protect the internal security. We stressed in protecting this country that we wanted to do it in a truly American way and in a definitely legal manner. Our first objective was the protection of all industry. All of us know, particularly the men of the armed services present here tonight, that wars are not won alone by the heroism of the individual soldier. Without better equipment than the enemy warfare is not sufficient in modern warfare. Without fanfare, we began a survey of the industrial facilities of America to make sure that their labor and their efforts would not be impeded by saboteurs of a foreign country. It is truly a tribute to labor, to management and to the general public, and so representative of the term "I Am An American" to advise you of the thousands of plant surveys conducted. We had the wholehearted co-operation of these three groups. On December 7, 1941, when we were forced into this war, we found that industry had been mobilized on a war footing for many months, an industry so gigantic that we have been able to give to an army and navy of eleven million men the necessary modern equipment to win this war. We have been able to furnish our gallant allies, particularly the British and Russians with the needed implements of war. When the men of Russia moved forward to drive the Nazis out of their native land they were using American implements of war. Some of the men and women here tonight while working in the defense factories of Pennsylvania, shared in that victory. Tonight, after seventeen months of actual warfare, I am

Louis DiAmbrosia and Sam DiAmbrosia Meet First Time In Two Years

BOTH IN THE SERVICE

HEADQUARTERS, EUROPEAN THEATER OF OPERATIONS, May 23.—Two Bristol, Pennsylvania, brothers recently had their first reunion in more than two years at an Army camp in England.

The brothers are Private Louis DiAmbrosia, 30, and Private First Class Sam DiAmbrosia, 22, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore DiAmbrosia, 325 Washington street, Bristol.

Pvt. Louis DiAmbrosia is a rifleman in a glider infantry unit. He entered service in June, 1942, at Camp George Meade, Maryland. He formerly was employed by the William H. Grundy Company in Bristol, Pa. Sam DiAmbrosia is a member of an infantry unit. He has served in Africa, Sicily and Italy. He has been in service two years.

Richlandtown Sailor Is Killed While Overseas

RICHLANDTOWN, May 23.—Another Bucks County man has been killed in action. The young man, Radioman 2/c Charles Darwin Benner, was buried in Allied territory, according to a message from the Navy Department to his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Benner. Benner was in his 21st year.

Although no details were received in the communication, it has been known that Benner, whose father died some years ago, was a radio man on a landing barge and that he had been overseas some time.

Benner, who was graduated from Quakertown high school in 1941, has two brothers in the service. William, who is in the army, and Donald, who is in the navy. Another brother, Robert, passed his physical examination for service in the army the day before the family received news of the death of Charles.

Other survivors include the mother, two brothers and three sisters.

Jefferson Ave. Pupils Collect Much Paper

A total of 28,000 pounds of scrap paper was collected by pupils of grades one to seven, Jefferson avenue public school, between March 1st and May 19th, according to figures released today by Miss Annie Heritage, who is in charge of the collection.

During that period the third grade pupils collected 1,900 pounds; fourth grade, almost 2,000 pounds; fifth grade, almost 5,000 pounds; sixth grade, 8,500 pounds.

Four boys, John DeFelle, Joseph Ricci, Francis Costantini, and Anthony Sottile collected 2,775 pounds between them.

BRITISH GIRL AIDED BY P. P. P. WORKERS

Is The Fourth Child To Be Assisted Through Foster-Parents' Plan

BOMBED FROM HOMES

During the past three years ten employees of the Paterson Parchment Paper Company, Bristol, have helped four British children in England through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, caring for one child at a time, it was announced today by Mrs. Edna Blue, Plan executive chairman. American headquarters of the Plan are at 55 West 42nd street, New York City.

Miss Gladys S. Curzon, Morrisville, is acting as foster parent group secretary. Other members of the group are Miss Ruth M. Adams, Morrisville; Mrs. Robert Camwell, Trenton, N. J.; Harold J. Kendall, Morrisville; Mrs. Joseph Schindler, Passaic, N. J.; Miss Grace Lewis, Newportville; Miss Helen Laskowski, Bristol; Mrs. Peter Peters, Edgely; Mrs. J. R. Dufford, Morrisville; Mrs. Florie Homan, Richford, N. J.; Mrs. C. Horace Franer, Bristol.

The group cared for Joyce Thelma Moore, 13-year-old British girl; Alice Maureen Mary Wilson, 13-year-old girl; May Hawcroft, 13-year-old girl, and at the present time the group is caring for eight-year-old Madeline Hudson.

All of the children had been bombed out of their homes and were taken to the colonies operated by the Plan in England. Forty-one such colonies care for children of 12 different nationalities. Because of the care the first three girls were able to be reunited with their families and at the present time Madeline is the sole responsibility of the group.

The projects which the Plan operates in England include the following: The Hampstead Nurseries directed by Miss Anna Freud and Mrs. Dorothy Tiffany Burlingham; the J. B. Priestley Nurseries, Herefordshire; the Sanctuary, Stoke Newington; the Farm Colony, Market Rasen, and the Westfield colony.

On the receipt of an application by the Foster Parents' Plan, the foster parent receives as soon as possible, a photograph and a brief history of the child and pays $15 per month for the support of the child.

An International Committee composed of the Earl of Listowel, the Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Helen Hayes and Russell Maguire are sponsoring the work of the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Union Officers Order Chrysler Workers to Return

Detroit.—Workers at the Chrysler Corporation's Highland Park plant today were ordered to return to work immediately by rebellious officers of Local 490, UAW-CIO. "Workers on the afternoon shift should report today," the Local president said.

The order climaxed a meeting of the Local's executive board following combined pressure on the International Union and the National War Labor Board. The strike has affected six plants and made 11,500 workers idle.

Nazis Admit French Railway System in 'Chaos'

London.—A commentator of the Nazi-operated Paris radio admitted today that "the French railway system is in complete chaos."

Such an outright admission from an enemy source led observers to believe that the Germans might have an ulterior motive in permitting such a broadcast.

The commentator said—"The Allies have successfully pulverized into rubble the whole marshalling yards, destroyed countless locomotives and made scores of railway stations unusable." He added that saboteurs have completed the destruction which the Allied planes overlooked.

Standard Oil Head Is Opposed to Certain International Cartels

Washington.—President Ralph W. Gallagher of the Standard Oil Co. (N. J.) declared his opposition today to international cartels which fix prices and restrict production.

Testifying before a Senate Judiciary sub-committee, Gallagher endorsed, with modifications, the O'Mahoney Bill to compel registration with the Justice Department of cartel agreements under which prices are fixed, markets are allocated and restrictions are put on sales of products.

Declaring that foreign trade is of vital importance in the postwar era, Gallagher said American business is looking for a "green light" to go ahead and compete in world markets.

BREWSTER GIVEN A SHORT REPRIEVE

Firm Told It Can Keep On Finishing Planes Until July 1st

WORK ONLY ONE SHIFT

The Brewster Aeronautical Corporation, which 24 hours ago faced the imminent prospect of shutting its shop, got a short reprieve yesterday.

The Navy, which previously announced it was cutting the Brewster contract for Vought Corsair fighter planes in half, told the concern's management last night it will not terminate the contract until July 1st.

Until that date, Brewster can finish the planes already under construction and may not have to lay off men immediately in its Plan for War Children.

CORNWELLS MAN TO PAY HEAVILY FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

Warren A. Rice Must Also Pay for Damage Done To Other Car

JAIL TERM SUSPENDED

Ronald Boren and Thomas James Before Court For Receiving Stolen Goods

DOYLESTOWN, May 23.—Warren A. Rice, 38, Cornwells Heights, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Hiram Keller at a session of the May term of criminal court. Rice was accused of driving while drunk on May 5th. He is a guard at the Wilson Distilling Company in Bristol.

The accident in which Rice was involved occurred May 8th on Route 13 at Croydon. His car is alleged to have struck a car driven by Grace Barth, Eddington. The car was damaged to the extent of $350 and a passenger with Miss Barth suffered an injured ankle. She was not named in court.

The accident was investigated by Private Newfoss, State Police, South Langhorne barracks.

Rice testified that he had a few beers and a little liquor on the occasion named, and he thinks that he fell asleep at the wheel.

Judge Keller sentenced Rice to pay a fine of $200 and costs and a sentence of three to 23 months was suspended upon condition that the costs of the case be paid by Rice at once and that he reimburse Miss Barth for the damage done to her car. He will lose his license for one year.

Ronald Elsworth Boren, 29, Croydon; and Thomas James, 35, taproom proprietor at Cornwells Heights, entered pleas of guilty to the charge of receiving stolen goods. Boren is a welder and James a former welder.

The case concerns the alleged theft of a large quantity of tools and equipment from the plant of the Publicker Alcohol Company at Eddington.

Anthony Russo, Chief Bucks County Detective, told the jury how he and the State Police had investigated the case. State Police John D. Forester, South Langhorne Barracks, went to the James taproom on April 4th dressed in overalls and disguised as a workingman. It is alleged that James told Forester he had some welding equipment to sell. Forester said that he was from Scranton and had a job at a Bristol plant and needed some welding equipment. James old Forester to come back later which he did in company with another state trooper. A set of welding equipment was offered to the two, they said, for $55 by James.

It was testified by Forester that James told him "it was hot stuff" and that if he was going to work in a nearby plant it would not be safe to use it.

Forester and the other state trooper were taken to the home of Boren where they said they found equipment worth $700.

James on the witness stand said that a man, whose name he did not know, had been coming to his taproom for five weeks. On one occasion he brought with him another man and two women. The equipment was brought in a car and the man had asked permission to leave it in the garage of James which permission was granted. After about three weeks James told the court he began to realize that it was "hot stuff." He got Boren to take it, which he did, and placed it in his cellar.

J. L. Norris, Perkasio, told the court that Boren was a valuable man to his contractor employer. That he had handled hundreds of dollars and had proven to be trustworthy. He asked that the court give him another chance.

Boren was sentenced to pay one—

PARENTAL CARE
The report on the scalp ringworm epidemic now prevalent in many cities of the country contained some interesting information, particularly the portion dealing with the reasons for the spread of the infection. One reason cited was decreased maternal care and supervision "because mothers are employed in factories and offices." Another was the country-wide migration of workers which involved moving infected children from one place to another.

There will be some skeptics who will doubt whether mothers working in offices and factories are too busy to give the necessary attention to the scalp of the growing child. They will contend that a boy or girl need not be very old before becoming competent to self-administer a shampoo on occasion. But with all such suggestions aside, the fact remains that the mother must be in the home a great part of the time if there is not to be neglect of children.

The ringworm epidemic merely substantiates an age-old sociological fact. Parents who neglect their duties and pay no heed to the precepts of those who stress the need of proper care of children are now learning the difficult way. Ringworm is proving what moralists long have said—and what current juvenile delinquency statistics corroborate.

HITLER'S SUCCESSOR
During all the months Germany has been at war little has been heard of one of her most capable as well as important military figures. Always the dispatches have been filled with references to Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and a few others.

Allied observers have come to the conclusion that Gen. Kurt Zeizler, chief of staff, is the man who has saved the situation to date for the German army. It was General Zeizler who planned and directed the retreats from Russia, rated by some as among history's greatest military feats. General Zeizler is not one of Hitler's intimate gang. He is an old army figure who won his way to the top the slow way. Hitler apparently retained him because he was indispensable. While General Rommel is presumed to be in command of anti-invasion forces, it is declared General Zeizler's military brains will be depended upon to save the day for the Nazis.

Should the German army decide Hitler must be deposed, Zeizler might become head of a military government. But this is not to imply that he would lead an open revolt against the Fuehrer. He has an army ready and able to make a stubborn resistance against the Allies, an army which is not likely to quit until the homeland is threatened.

Great mechanical progress is promised after the war, but it is to be doubted whether it will include a can that will open by pushing a button.

A new cure for baldness is announced in London, Vitamin H, which could mean help for hair.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

straightened except through prolonged and tiresome hearings. The results, inevitably, are bad. In the end, nine times out of ten, a lopsided bill emerges which is highly unsatisfactory to everybody. It is a horribly wasteful and inefficient system, as hard on the committee chairmen as it is on the Government heads. And, bad, indeed, for the public interests. In the course of such a procedure suspicions are bred, irritation promoted and bad feeling engendered—largely because men become exhausted by needless repetition and the expenditure of utterly useless energy. As a result of his own experience an idea for improving this state of affairs has been evolved by Mr. John M. Hancock, co-author of the Haguch plan for the difficult task of unwinding from a wartime economy to a peacetime economy. The man who is putting the idea into effect is Mr. Will L. Clayton, appointed by the President as Surplus Production Administrator, under the Burch-Hancock plan.

TO DO THE job to which he has been assigned—particularly that part involving termination of contracts—Mr. Clayton needs certain legislation from Congress. This legislation will have to be approved by four different committees—to wit, the Senate Finance Committee, the Senate Military Affairs Committee, the House Ways and Means Committee and the House Military Affairs Committee. Besides Mr. Clayton, the heads of several other governmental agencies are affected by the legislation. Now, the idea advanced by Mr. Hancock was that instead of following the old form of going from committee to committee, each one of which would kick new holes in the governmental draft, Mr. Clayton, with the cooperation and approval of the chairmen of all four committees, should hold in the Office of the War Mobilization Board a series of unique conferences.

THESE CONFERENCES have begun. On one side of a long table sit Mr. Clayton and the other agency heads with an interest in this matter. On the other side sit the chairmen of the various committees and such committee experts as they choose to bring. All the important committees of Congress are equipped with counsel and experts upon whom great reliance is placed. At these conferences the agency heads acquaint the counsel with exactly what they want and why they want it. The counsel, in turn, lay before the agency heads the limitations which Congress imposes and explain exactly how far they can go no farther. Thus, at once, the agencies are restrained from asking more than they can get. They avoid putting forth things to fight for that merely take up time and clutter up the committee scenery. On the other hand, the committee counsel get a clear understanding of the reasons for the proposed bill and—even more important—of the men behind it. With everybody represented at these conferences and all the cards laid on the table, it does seem that it should be relatively easy to arrive at an agreement with the good faith on both sides established.

THEIR HOPE is that as a result of the Clayton conferences, at their conclusion the committee counsel, being in accord, can write the bill themselves and write a bill that, in addition to satisfying themselves and their committees, will satisfy the heads of the Government agencies. If it does work out that way,

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, God in His infinite wisdom, has taken from us our late friend and fellow member, Joseph Burton, and WHEREAS, during his membership as an active member of America Hose, Hook & Ladder Company, No. 2, for a period of years he has filled his various offices with zeal for its welfare;

BE IT RESOLVED, that in the death of Joseph Burton this company has lost a valued member and a willing worker;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the sympathy of America Hose, Hook & Ladder Company be extended to his family in their great loss, and that a copy of this resolution be entered in the minutes.

WILLIAM BOLTON,
JOHN G. WILLIAMS,
ARTHUR BOLTON.

It would seem intelligent for Government heads generally to adopt this method of dealing with Congress. There is, of course, nothing in it to prevent any committee from sending for any Government head and questioning him even after agreement has been reached at the conferences. But, even then, the savings in time and strain would be immense. Every experienced person who knows of this experiment approves it. It seems as welcome to the committee chairmen as to the agency heads. It will be interesting to watch.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)
Pastor
Bristol Presbyterian Church

Eternal Father, we raise our voices to Thee in praise and adoration this day for the glorious blessings which Thou hast bestowed upon us. We thank Thee for the gift of life, and for the health and strength to do Thy Will. We thank Thee for the saving power of Jesus Christ, and for His love which caused Him to lay down His life for us. Make us worthy, in a greater degree, of these divine manifestations, and make us faithful in the accomplishment of Thy Will. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Brighter Rooms with Amazing
Du Pont Paint That Dries
in Only One Hour

Less than $2.75 for average room (with coupon below)

Here's the paint for people who want to redecorate tastefully but inexpensively. Du Pont Speed-Easy saves you time and money.

Once over a room usually does the job. Move the furniture back in one hour. For the walls and ceiling of average room, one gallon of Speed-Easy is enough (only $2.75 or less with bargain coupon below).

A wide variety of beautiful pastel colors and white (can be intermixed to form countless tints).

Used by reliable painters, preferred by particular home-owners.

Thins with Water

You don't need special thinners. One gallon of Speed-Easy paste makes up to 1½ gallons of ready-to-apply paint. And only one coat is usually needed... for wallpaper, wallboard, plaster, concrete, unpainted or old painted surfaces. It cuts time, cost and work in half.

Dries in One Hour

ST. FRANCIS NINE DEFEATS R. & H. IN YOUTH LEAGUE

Bat of Mario Cupo Decides The Tilt for The Winners

FINAL SCORE IS 6 TO 4

Rohm & Haas Nine Had A Lead of 3 to 0 in The First 3 Frames

EDDINGTON, May 23—The St. Francis Industrial School team defeated the Rohm and Haas nine, 6-4, in a Bristol Youth League game here Sunday afternoon.

The bat and arm of Mario Cupo decided the tilt for the St. Francis boys. This 15-year old youngster struck out 17 of the Rohm and Haas batters and his three-bagger with two on base drove in the winning runs in the sixth. Cupo's only fault was that he could not control the fast ball as he passed 16 batters.

The Rohm and Haas team piled up a 3-0 advantage in the first three frames while the St. Francis boys had difficulty in solving the slants of Saxton. But from the fourth in, the Eddington boys began to dent home plate enough times to score the triumph.

Hamm was the first to get things started against Saxton. He singled to start the fourth and scored on a double by Martella.

VOLTZ-TEXACO NINE TO PLAY ALUMINUM TEAM

Two games will be played in the Bristol Suburban League this evening. The Voltz-Texaco nine will play the Aluminum Company team on the Burlington high school field while Diamond plays Badenhansen on the Bensalem Township high school field at Cornwells Heights.

Both Voltz-Texaco and Diamond are unbeaten in the circuit. Badenhansen has lost one and won one while the Aluminum Company aggregation has dropped both its games played.

It is most likely that Danny Keegan will pitch for Diamond against the Iron-workers with Paul Dean opposing him. Woods will draw the pitching assignment for Aluminum with Hal Shackleton doing the hill chores for the Voltz team.

Both games will begin at six-thirty o'clock.

BRISTOL A. A. TEAM NOT TO PLAY THIS SEASON

Here is a list of former Bristol A. A. baseball players now fighting for Uncle Sam. "Every one of these boys wore the A. A. colors in the last four years, not one asked for deferment, not one was turned down," says Johnny Mulholland.

There will be no "A. A." club until the war is over.

John F. Sears Dealt With Many Vital Problems In His Address Here

happy to inform you that there is no evidence of a single act of foreign inspired sabotage within the United States of America. We know of the futile attempt of the German high command to send to this country eight Nazi saboteurs by submarine. Their objective was to cripple American industry and particularly to destroy a vital defense plant in this nearby community. Within a very short period of time all eight were apprehended, tried and convicted. Even these Nazi saboteurs who made the first actual invasion of the United States, because they landed in military uniforms, were given a fair trial according to the principles of American justice.

In preserving the national security we had to make sure that information concerning troop movements, convoys, secret weapons and rates of production did not get into the hands of enemy agents. We knew something of the German espionage system and it was our definite responsibility to have an effective system of counter-espionage so we could better protect the military secrets of this nation. So successful has our program been in this respect that on several occasions we have actually directed the activities of the German spies in this country. These German agents were furnished information gathered by the FBI and these same German agents actually furnished this misinformation to the German military command.

We have a group of responsible men in each community, better known as the Draft Board, to make sure that we fight this war in a truly democratic way by determining where each man's abilities will best be used in the war effort. Enforcing the decisions of these boards by locating those individuals who would not accept their decisions was another objective. To be successful in our war effort, proper enforcement of the Selective Service Act was needed. It is a tribute to the people of Pennsylvania for their patriotism and above all to the services of our law enforcement officers in eastern Pennsylvania, that we are seeking the apprehension of only a small number of men who have failed to respond to the call of arms. I cannot speak too highly of the excellent co-operation rendered by all law enforcement officers in the enforcement of the selective service laws in a truly American way. We went about our work quietly, asking all violators of any law for their classification and registration cards. This we continue to do daily. The accomplishments of law enforcement was a definite step toward the preservation of our national security.

There are other important phases of winning this war that concern only the home front. Our men overseas and our women overseas will be only as strong as we are at home are strong. We are their lifeline. We have the responsibility of furnishing them with everything they need. As we stand on the edge of the assault of Hitler's fortress, we at home are faced with the definite problem of morale. It is up to each of us to make sure that we help the general morale of the community by not repeating rumors and gossip which may come to our attention concerning the war. When you hear un-American rumors affecting the war effort it is your responsibility to report them to your police officials who in turn, working with the FBI, try to find the source of the rumors in an effort to determine whether they are malicious gossip or definitely enemy propaganda. If some soldier should die tonight because of the lack of blood plasma, the person who passed the false and malicious rumor that the American Red Cross gets paid for the blood plasma which citizens donate should be charged with the responsibility for the death of that soldier. But no soldier will die tonight for the lack of blood plasma because this ugly rumor was exposed and patriotic Americans at home sent their life blood to the fighting front. There are amongst us today, certain individuals who fled to the catacombs when they heard of the successful efforts of organized law enforcement. Today they are awaiting their chance to break down our morale and impede our efforts. Tonight I urge you to be the eyes and ears of the community and to report any un-American activities to your law enforcement officers and to us of the FBI. Remember the slogan, "Tell it to the FBI and not to your neighbor." Remember that we, as law enforcement officers, have pledged to investigate our cases in a thoroughly American way and that pledge will be kept on any un-American activities which you may report. This is the only way by which we at home can preserve our internal security.

Today we are threatened with another serious problem, the problem of juvenile delinquency. We at home must definitely curtail this problem. I do not have the time to discuss the many causes of juvenile delinquency. I believe that we are all agreed that juvenile delinquency is caused primarily by the lack of discipline at home which is the definite responsibility of every mother, father and guardian of the youth of the land. The lack of discipline in our schools and in our churches complete the general picture which is responsible for whatever moral letdown there has been on the part of youth. It is the responsibility of parents, teachers and our church leaders to work together with the service organizations and social agencies of our community, augmented by our judges, prosecutors and police officials so that we may make sure that we know what particular problems face the community and then adopt the necessary corrective steps that will be needed to erase the specific conditions which are causing juvenile delinquency. Many a mother and father working in war factories claim they do not have time to give attention to the proper guidance of their children. To win this war we must all do more than our share and this cannot be accepted as an excuse for the lack of parental guidance and care. Many of our young people today are making more money than they ever made before and they erroneously believe this financial independence entitles them to liberty of action and they are disregarding the recognized moral standards of the country. We can only expect youth to take example from their parents and the elder people of the community. When we find a definite letdown in the moral fiber of adults of the community we can expect the results which our crime statistics are showing today. Of all the persons arrested for robbery, burglary, larceny and auto theft, 42% were less than 21 years of age. Persons less than 25 years are showing a definite increase over the year 1943. For offenses against common decency, the number of girls under 21 arrested during 1943, increased 56%. This includes such offenses as drunkenness, vagrancy, disorderly conduct, prostitution, commercialized vice and other sex crimes such as adultery and fornication. Crimes against property such as robbery, burglary and related offenses indicate the arrest of girls under 21 years of age increased 30%. Miscellaneous violations show arrests increased 53%. When we compare 1943 with the year 1941, we find an increase of 130% in crime among our girls under the age of 21. These facts indicate the need for each community to intensify its efforts to stop the rising tide of delinquency and juvenile crime. It is not the responsibility for any individual group to effectively stop this rise in juvenile delinquency. It is necessary to have the wholehearted support of every parent in the community, every teacher in our schools, every clergyman and every member of every service and social organization in our community. They should meet and work together because this is definitely a community problem. If we wish to preserve the internal security of this country, we must not only look at what we are doing today, but we must look to the future to ascertain the type of leadership we will have in the next generation. Our future judges, statesmen, doctors, lawyers, as well as teachers, and our future mothers of America are going through the formation stages of their lives. It is our responsibility to make sure that by proper example and by proper discipline we leave impressed upon them the need of a strong moral background, the need of a community free from corruption and the need of responsible public officials. This is the real battle of the home front today. It is your duty to accept this challenge and to complete your responsibility. In completing our responsibilities we are assuring the fighting men abroad that the community they left will be a better community when they return. In this protection of our home front we must win. Acting together we will win. When we emerge from this war victoriously, we will be able to see that we at home did our work in a democratic manner. We Americans, tonight, should make this pledge in completion of our celebration of "I Am An American Day." In doing this we will be performing our duty and have the right to say, "I Am an American."

plants at Johnsville, near Hatboro, and Long Island City.

The plants, which employ about

12,000 men, now are working only one shift a day.

It was estimated that had the Navy carried out its threat to halve the Corsair contract, 8,000 workers would have been laid off immediately, inasmuch as nearly half the planes called for in the contract already have been completed.

In its formal notification of the impending termination, the Navy Department stressed that its action with regard to Brewster is a part of a general cutback on its fighter plane production program, and that two other companies producing Corsairs—Vought and Goodyear—also will be cut, though to a lesser degree.

Brewster, the Navy said, was chosen to bear the major impact of the curtailment order "because it is the smallest producer of Corsairs, has no additional Navy contracts, or prospects of any, and further because of its higher production costs than either of the two other companies in this particular production field."

The Navy said there is "no dissatisfaction with the management of Henry J. Kaiser (who resigned last Wednesday as Brewster's president) or the new management (headed by Preston Lockwood, New York attorney, and a group of former Kaiser executives), which has just taken office."

Just before he resigned, Kaiser announced he had increased Brewster's production of Corsairs by

44 percent, and had reduced the labor man-hours per plane from 27,000 last September to 9,500 during the first week of May. The company twice was commended during the last two months by the War Production Board for its recent production record, and the War Labor Board called that record "nothing short of astounding."

OFFENSIVE LOOSED BY 5TH ARMY AT ANZIO BEACHHEAD; ATTEMPT TO JOIN FORCES WITH ALLIED DRIVE TO NORTH

German High Command Reports Strong Attacks By Both Infantry and Tank Forces — Fighting in Cisterna-Littoria Sector

LONDON, May 23 — (INS) — Official German quarters indicated today that Fifth Army troops in the Anzio beachhead just south of Rome had loosed an expected offensive to join forces with Allied troops driving northward on the main battlefield in Italy.

Strong attacks by Allied infantry and tank forces in the beachhead were reported by the German high command.

The Cisterna - Littoria sector, named by the Nazis as one of those in which fighting took place, is on the eastern end of the Allied line. Littoria itself is some 20 miles from the northern spearhead of the Fifth Army's main group. Aprilia, the second area named as an attack zone by the Germans, is on the beachhead's northern flank along the main road from Nettuno to Rome.

An Experiment

Washington, May 20. AN INTERESTING experiment has begun in Washington which, if it works out—there is every reason it should work out—may establish a pattern. What is hoped is that a way has been found to save not only the time and the temper of Congress but of the many Government heads who have to deal with Congress. And, in addition, get far better results.

THE SITUATION which it is designed to correct is this: When a Government agency or department needs legislation from Congress, heretofore the procedure has been for the Government head to draft a bill and arrange for its introduction. Then the Government heads have to appear separately before the committees of House and Senate to explain the provisions and purposes of the bill and be subjected to cross examination on its merits and demerits. This would not be so bad if there were only one committee but always there are two and very often four committees—two in each branch—through which the bill has to pass.

THIS MEANS that the Government heads are literally "run ragged" rushing from one committee hearing to another, going over the same ground with two, three or four chairmen, each one of whom has a different slant, finds new objections and is susceptible to different suggestions. The fearful wear and tear upon the unfortunate Government heads of running this kind of gantlet is obvious. The distressing thing, of course, is the complete lack of co-ordination or consultation among the committees. Things the Senate committees accept without question may be rejected emphatically by the House committees. Or it may be the other way around.

THERE IS no rule by which conflicts can be avoided or tangles

JOHN F. SEARS, F. B. I. AGENT IN CHARGE OF EASTERN PENNSYLVANIA, DEALT WITH MANY VITAL PROBLEMS IN ADDRESS HERE

Following is the address of John F. Sears, Special Agent in Charge of F. B. I., Eastern Pennsylvania, which Mr. Sears delivered Sunday evening at the "I Am An American Day" observance in the Bristol High school auditorium.

Mr. Sears spoke as follows:

It is indeed considered a great privilege to have this opportunity to join with you in the observance of "I Am An American Day." Tonight we honor the heroic dead, the reported missing in action, men wounded in action, and those who have been honorably released by the armed forces from future military duty. We likewise pay tribute to the mothers of our sons and daughters who are fighting for the cause of freedom throughout the world, and pay special tribute to those mothers who have the unforgettable moment of changing their blue star to gold.

We at home have great responsibilities. We hold in trust for the men and women overseas the future security of this country. We are the guardians of the future health, safety and happiness of this great nation. Such a trust has well-defined duties of citizenship which we must recognize and continuously perform.

Tonight so may better be able to fulfill our duty to our country.

and to the future, I wish to bring to your attention some of the problems which we have encountered and successfully met, and other current problems which we must handle immediately and successfully. As a law enforcement officer, charged with the responsibility of protecting the internal security of this country, I believe it only proper that I review conditions as we found them during our five years of war.

You may wonder why I say five years of war. It is because law enforcement went to war against our enemies on the home front in 1939. We were cognizant of the fact that this country would be embroiled in the present world conflict. Quietly all law enforcement organizations worked together. Meeting frequently with the respective heads of all law enforcement agencies, we laid plans to protect the internal security. We stressed in protecting this country that we wanted to do it in a truly American way and in a definitely legal manner. Our first objective was the protection of all industry. All of us know, particularly the men of the armed services present here tonight, that wars are not won alone by the heroism of the individual soldier. Without better equipment than the enemy value is not sufficient in modern warfare. Without fanfare, we began a survey of the industrial facilities of America to make sure that their labor and their efforts would not be impeded by saboteurs of a foreign country. It is truly a tribute to labor, to management and to the general public, and so representative of the term "I Am An American" to advise you of the thousands of plant surveys conducted. We had the wholehearted co-operation of these three groups. On December 7, 1941, when we were forced into this war, we found that industry had been mobilized on a war footing for many months, an industry so gigantic that we have been able to give to an army and navy of eleven million men the necessary modern equipment to win this war. We have been able to furnish our gallant allies, particularly the British and Russians with the needed implements of war. When the men of Russia moved forward to drive the Nazis out of their native land they were using American implements of war. Some of the men and women here tonight while working in the defense factories of Pennsylvania, shared in that victory. Tonight, after seventeen months of actual warfare, I am

2 BROTHERS FROM HERE REUNITED IN ENGLAND

Louis DiAmbrosia and Sam DiAmbrosia Meet First Time In Two Years

BOTH IN THE SERVICE

HEADQUARTERS, EUROPEAN THEATER OF OPERATIONS, May 23 — Two Bristol, Pennsylvania, brothers recently had their first reunion in more than two years at an Army camp in England.

The brothers are Private Louis DiAmbrosia, 20, and Private First Class Sam DiAmbrosia, 22, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore DiAmbrosia, 325 Washington street, Bristol.

Pvt. Louis DiAmbrosia is a rifleman in a gilder infantry unit. He entered service in June, 1942, at Camp George Meade, Maryland. He formerly was employed by the William H. Grundy Company in Bristol. Pfc. Sam DiAmbrosia is a member of an infantry unit. He has served in Africa, Sicily and Italy. He has been in service two years.

Richlandtown Sailor Is Killed While Overseas

RICHLANDTOWN, May 23 — Another Bucks County man has been killed in action. The young man, Radioman 2/c Charles Darwin Benner, was buried in Allied territory, according to a message from the Navy Department to his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Benner. Benner was in his 21st year.

Although no details were received in the communication it has been known that Benner, whose father died some years ago, was a radio man on a landing barge and that he had been overseas some time.

Benner, who was graduated from Quakertown high school in 1941, has two brothers in the service, William, who is in the army, and Donald, who is in the navy. Another brother, Robert, passed his physical examination for service in the army the day before the family received news of the death of Charles.

Other survivors include the mother, two brothers and three sisters.

Jefferson Ave. Pupils Collect Much Paper

A total of 28,000 pounds of scrap paper was collected by pupils of grades one to seven, Jefferson avenue public school, between March 1st and May 19th, according to figures released today by Miss Annie Heritage, who is in charge of the collection.

During that period the third grade pupils collected 1,900 pounds; fourth grade, almost 2,000 pounds; fifth grade, almost 5,000 pounds; sixth grade, 8,500 pounds.

Four boys, John DeFelice, Joseph Ricci, Francis Costantini, and Anthony Sottile collected 2,775 pounds between them.

BRITISH GIRL AIDED BY P. P. P. WORKERS

BOMBED FROM HOMES

During the past three years ten employees of the Paterson Parchment Paper Company, Bristol, have helped four British children in England through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, caring for one child at a time, it was announced today by Mrs. Edna Blue, Plan executive chairman. American headquarters of the Plan are at 55 West 42nd street, New York City.

Miss Gladys S. Curzon, Morrisville, is acting as foster parent group secretary. Other members of the group are Miss Ruth M. Adams, Morrisville; Mrs. Robert Camwell, Trenton, N. J.; Harold J. Kendall, Morrisville; Mrs. Joseph Schindler, Passaic, N. J.; Miss Grace Lewis, Neaportville; Miss Helen Laskowski, Bristol; Mrs. Peter Peters, Edgely; Mrs. J. R. Dufford, Morrisville; Mrs. Florie Homan, Rutherford, N. J.; Mrs. C. Horace Tranter, Bristol.

The group cared for Joyce Thelma Moore, 13-year-old British girl; Alice Maureen Mary Wilson, 13-year-old girl; May Hawcroft, 13-year-old girl, and at the present time the group is caring for eight-year-old Madeline Hudson.

All of the children had been bombed out of their homes and were taken to the colonies operated by the Plan in England. Forty-one such colonies care for children of 12 different nationalities. Because of the care the first three girls were able to be reunited with their families and at the present time Madeline is the sole responsibility of the group.

The projects which the Plan operates in England include the following: The Hampstead Nurseries directed by Miss Anna Freud and Mrs. Dorothy Tiffany Burlingham; the J. B. Priestley Nurseries, Herefordshire; the Sanctuary, Stoke Newington; the Farm Colony, Market Rasen, and the Westfield colony.

On the receipt of an application by the Foster Parents' Plan, the foster parent receives as soon as possible, a photograph and a brief history of the child and pays $15 per month for the support of the child.

An International Committee composed of the Earl of Listowel, the Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Helen Hayes, and Russell Maguire are sponsoring the work of the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children.

BREWSTER GIVEN A SHORT REPRIEVE

Firm Told It Can Keep On Finishing Planes Until July 1st

WORK ONLY ONE SHIFT

The Brewster Aeronautical Corporation, which 24 hours ago faced the imminent prospect of shutting its shop, got a short reprieve yesterday.

The Navy, which previously announced it was cutting the Brewster contract for Vought Corsair fighter planes in half, told the concern's management last night it will not terminate the contract until July 1st.

Until that date, Brewster can finish the planes already under construction and may not have to lay off men immediately in its

Union Officers Order Chrysler Workers to Return

Detroit — Workers at the Chrysler Corporation's Highland Park plant today were ordered to return to work immediately by rebellious officers of Local 499, UAW-CIO. "Workers on the afternoon shift should report today," the Local president said.

The order climaxed a meeting of the Local's executive board following combined pressure on the International Union and the National War Labor Board. The strike has affected six plants and made 11,500 workers idle.

Nazis Admit French Railway System in 'Chaos'

London — A commentator of the Nazi-operated Paris radio admitted today that "the French railway system is in complete chaos."

Such an outright admission from an enemy source led observers to believe that the Germans might have an ulterior motive in permitting such a broadcast.

The commentator said—"The Allies have successfully pulverized into rubble the whole marshalling yards, destroyed countless locomotives and made scores of railway stations unusable." He added that saboteurs have completed the destruction which the Allied planes overlooked.

Standard Oil Head Is Opposed to Certain International Cartels

Washington — President Ralph W. Gallagher of the Standard Oil Co. (N. J.) declared his opposition today to international cartels which fix prices and restrict production.

Testifying before a Senate Judiciary sub-committee, Gallagher endorsed, with modifications, the O'Mahoney Bill to compel registration with the Justice Department of cartel agreements under which prices are fixed, markets are allocated and restrictions are put on sales of products.

Declaring that foreign trade is of vital importance in the postwar era, Gallagher said American business is looking for a "green light" to go ahead and compete in world markets.

CORNWELLS MAN TO PAY HEAVILY FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

Warren A. Rice Must Also Pay for Damage Done To Other Car

JAIL TERM SUSPENDED

Ronald Boren and Thomas James Before Court For Receiving Stolen Goods

DOYLESTOWN, May 23 — Warren A. Rice, 38, Cornwells Heights, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Hiram Keller at a session of the May term of criminal court.

Rice was accused of driving while drunk on May 8th. He is a guard at the Wilson Distilling Company in Bristol.

The accident in which Rice was involved occurred May 8th on Route 13 at Croydon. His car is alleged to have struck a car driven by Grace Barth, Eddington. The car was damaged to the extent of $350 and a passenger with Miss Barth suffered an injured ankle. She was not named in court.

The accident was investigated by Private Newfoss, State Police, South Langhorne barracks.

Rice testified that he had a few beers and a little liquor on the occasion named, and he thinks that he fell asleep at the wheel.

Judge Keller sentenced Rice to pay a fine of $200 and costs and a sentence of three to 23 months was suspended upon condition that the costs of the case be paid by Rice at once and that he reimburse Miss Barth for the damage done to her car. He will lose his license for one year.

Ronald Elsworth Boren, 29, Croydon, and Thomas James, 35, taproom proprietor at Cornwells Heights, entered pleas of guilty to the charge of receiving stolen goods. Boren is a welder and James a former welder.

The case concerns the alleged theft of a large quantity of tools and equipment from the plant of the Publicker Alcohol Company at Eddington.

Anthony Russo, Chief Bucks County Detective, told the jury how he and the State Police had investigated the case. State Police John D. Forester, South Langhorne Barracks, went to the James taproom on April 14th dressed in overalls and disguised as a workman. It is alleged that James told Forester he had some welding equipment to sell. Forester said that he was from Scranton and had a job at a Bristol plant and needed some welding equipment. James old Forester to come back later which he did in company with another state trooper. A set of welding equipment was offered to the two, they said, for $55 by James.

It was testified by Forester that James told him "it was hot stuff" and that if he was going to work in a nearby plant it would not be safe to use it.

Forester and the other state trooper were taken to the home of Boren where they said they found equipment worth $700.

James on the witness stand said that a man, whose name he did not know, had been coming to his taproom for five weeks. On one occasion he brought with him another man and two women. The equipment was brought in a car and the man had asked permission to leave it in the garage of James which permission was granted. After about three weeks James told the court he began to realize that it was "hot stuff." He got Boren to take it, which he did, and placed it in his cellar.

J. L. Norris, Perkasie, told the court that Boren was a valuable man to his contractor employer. That he had handled hundreds of dollars and had proven to be trustworthy. He asked that the court give him another chance.

Boren was sentenced to pay one

PARENTAL CARE

The report on the scalp ringworm epidemic now prevalent in many cities of the country contained some interesting information, particularly the portion dealing with the reasons for the spread of the infection. One reason cited was decreased maternal care and supervision "because mothers are employed in factories and offices." Another was the country-wide migration of workers which involved moving infected children from one place to another.

There will be some skeptics who will doubt whether mothers working in offices and factories are too busy to give the necessary attention to the scalp of the growing child. They will contend that a boy or girl need not be very old before becoming competent to self-administer a shampoo on occasion. But with all such suggestions aside, the fact remains that the mother must be in the home a great part of the time if there is not to be neglect of children.

The ringworm epidemic merely substantiates an age-old sociological fact. Parents who neglect their duties and pay no heed to the preachments of those who stress the need of proper care of children are now learning the difficult way. Ringworm is proving what moralists long have said—and what current juvenile delinquency statistics corroborate.

HITLER'S SUCCESSOR

During all the months Germany has been at war little has been heard of one of her most capable as well as important military figures. Always the dispatches have been filled with references to Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and a few others.

Allied observers have come to the conclusion that Gen. Kurt Zeitzler, chief of staff, is the man who has saved the situation to date for the German army. It was General Zeitzler who planned and directed the retreats from Russia, rated by some as among history's greatest military feats. General Zeitzler is not one of Hitler's intimate gang. He is an old army figure who won his way to the top the slow way. Hitler apparently retained him because he was indispensable. While General Rommel is presumed to be in command of anti-invasion forces, it is declared General Zeitzler's military brains will be depended upon to save the day for the Nazis.

Should the German army decide Hitler must be deposed, Zeitzler might become head of a military government. But this is not to imply that he would lead an open revolt against the Fuehrer. He has an army ready and able to make a stubborn resistance against the Allies, an army which is not likely to quit until the homeland is threatened.

Great mechanical progress is promised after the war, but it is to be doubted whether it will include a can that will open by pushing a button.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

straightened except through prolonged and tiresome hearings. The results, inevitably, are bad. In the end, nine times out of ten, a lopsided bill emerges which is highly unsatisfactory to everybody. It is a horribly wasteful and inefficient system, as hard on the committee chairmen as it is on the Government heads. And, bad, indeed, for the public interests. In the course of such a procedure suspicions are bred, irritation promoted and bad feeling engendered—largely because men become exhausted by needless repetition and the expenditure of utterly useless energy. As a result of his own experience an idea for improving this state of affairs has been evolved by Mr. John M. Hancock, co-author of the Hatch plan for the difficult task of unwinding from a wartime economy to a peacetime economy. The man who is putting the idea into effect is Mr. Will L. Clayton, appointed by the President as Surplus Production Administrator, under the Hatch-Hancock plan.

TO DO THE job to which he has been assigned—particularly that part involving termination of contracts—Mr. Clayton needs certain legislation from Congress. This legislation will have to be approved by four different committees—to wit, the Senate Finance Committee, the Senate Military Affairs Committee, the House Ways and Means Committee and the House Military Affairs Committee. Besides Mr. Clayton, the heads of several other governmental agencies are affected by the legislation. Now, the idea advanced by Mr. Hancock was that instead of following the old form of going from committee to committee, each one of which would kick new holes in the governmental draft, Mr. Clayton, with the cooperation and approval of the chairmen of all four committees, should hold in the Office of the War Mobilization Board a series of unique conferences.

THESE CONFERENCES have begun. On one side of a long table sit Mr. Clayton and the other agency heads with an interest in this matter. On the other side sit the counsel of the various committees and such committee experts as they choose to bring. All the important committees of Congress are equipped with counsel and experts upon whom great reliance is placed. At these conferences the agency heads acquaint the counsel with exactly what they want and why they want it. The counsel, in turn, lay before the agency heads the limitations which Congress imposes and explain exactly how the agency heads can go and why they can go no farther. Thus, at once, the agencies are restrained from asking more than they can get. They avoid putting forth things to fight for that merely take up time and clutter up the committee scenery. On the other hand, the committee counsel get a clear understanding of the reasons for the proposed bill and—even more important—of the men behind it. With everybody represented at these conferences and all the cards laid on the table, it does seem that it should be relatively easy to arrive at an agreement with the good faith on both sides established.

THE HOPE is that as a result of the Clayton conferences, at their conclusion the committee counsel, being in accord, can write the bill themselves—and write a bill that, in addition to satisfying themselves and their committees, will satisfy the heads of the Government agencies. If it does work out that way,

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, God in His infinite wisdom, has taken from us our late friend and fellow member, Joseph Burton, and WHEREAS, during his membership as an active member of America Hose, Hook & Ladder Company, No. 2, for a period of years he has filled his various offices with zeal for its welfare;

BE IT RESOLVED, that in the death of Joseph Burton this company has lost a valued member and a willing worker.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the sympathy of America Hose, Hook & Ladder Company be extended to his family in their great loss, and that a copy of this resolution be entered in the minutes.

WILLIAM HOLTON,
JOHN G. WILLIAMS,
ARTHUR BOLTON.

It would seem intelligent for Government heads generally to adopt this method of dealing with Congress. There is, of course, nothing in it to prevent any committee from sending for any Government head and questioning him even after agreement has been reached at the conferences. But, even then, the savings in time and strain would be immense. Every experienced person who knows of this experiment approves it. It seems as welcome to the committee chairmen as to the agency heads. It will be interesting to watch.

ST. FRANCIS NINE DEFEATS R. & H. IN YOUTH LEAGUE

Eat of Mario Cupo Decides The Tilt for The Winners

FINAL SCORE IS 6 TO 4

Rohm & Haas Nine Had A Lead of 3 to 0 in The First 3 Frames

EDDINGTON, May 23—The St. Francis Industrial School team defeated the Rohm and Haas nine, 6-4, in a Bristol Youth League game here Sunday afternoon.

The bat and arm of Mario Cupo decided the tilt for the St. Francis boys. This 15-year old youngster struck out 17 of the Rohm and Haas batters and his three-bagger with two on base drove in the winning runs in the sixth. Cupo's only fault was that he could not control his fast ball as he passed 16 batters.

The Rohm and Haas team piled up a 3-0 advantage in the first three frames while the St. Francis boys had difficulty in solving the slants of Saxton. But from the fourth in, the Eddington boys began to dent home plate enough times to score the triumph.

Hamm was the first to get things started against Saxton. He singled to start the fourth and scored on a double by Martella.

BRISTOL ACES WIN 2ND STRAIGHT GAME

SILES, May 23—The Bristol Aces won their second straight game in the Bristol Youth League, beating Siles A. C., 5-1, on the latter's field.

The winners had nine hits to their credit while Gesualdi was holding the Siles batters to a pair of bingles. Perrone led the Aces with the stick, getting four out of four.

VOLTZ-TEXACO NINE TO PLAY ALUMINUM TEAM

Two games will be played in the Bristol Suburban League this evening. The Voltz-Texaco nine will play the Aluminum Company team on the Burlington high school field while Diamond plays Badenhausen on the Bensalem Township high school field at Cornwells Heights.

Both Voltz-Texaco and Diamond are unbeaten in the circuit. Badenhausen has lost one and won one.

while the Aluminum Company aggregation has dropped both its games played.

It is most likely that Danny Keegan will pitch for Diamond against the Iron-workers with Paul Dean opposing him. Woods will draw the pitching assignment for Aluminum with Hal Shackleton doing the hill chores for the Voltz team.

Both games will begin at six-thirty o'clock.

BRISTOL A. A. TEAM NOT TO PLAY THIS SEASON

Here is a list of former Bristol A. A. baseball players now fighting for Uncle Sam. "Every one of these boys wore the A. A. colors in the last four years, not one asked for deferment, not one was turned down," says Johnny Mulholland.

There will be no "A. A." club until the war is over.

happy to inform you that there is no evidence of a single act of foreign inspired sabotage within the United States of America. We know of the futile attempt of the German high command to send to this country eight Nazi saboteurs by submarine. Their objective was to cripple American industry and particularly to destroy a vital defense plant in this nearby community. Within a very short period of time all eight were apprehended, tried and convicted. Even these Nazi saboteurs who made the first actual invasion of the United States, because they landed in military uniforms, were given a fair trial according to the principles of American justice.

In preserving the national security we had to make sure that information concerning troop movements, convoys, secret weapons and rates of production did not get into the hands of enemy agents. We knew something of the German espionage system and it was our definite responsibility to have an effective system of counter-espionage so we could better protect the military secrets of this nation. So successful has our program been in this respect that on several occasions we have actually directed the activities of the German spies in this country. These German agents were furnished information gathered by the FBI and these same German agents actually furnished this misinformation to the German military command.

We have a group of responsible men in each community, better known as the Draft Board, to make sure that we fight this war in a truly democratic way by determining where each man's abilities will best be used in the war effort. Enforcing the decisions of these boards by locating those individuals who would not accept their decisions was another objective. To be successful in our war effort, proper enforcement of the Selective Service Act was needed. It is a tribute to the people of Pennsylvania for their patriotism and above all to the services of our law enforcement officers in eastern Pennsylvania, that we are seeking the apprehension of only a small number of men who have failed to respond to the call of arms. I cannot speak too highly of the excellent co-operation rendered by all law enforcement officers in the enforcement of the selective service laws in a truly American way. We went about our work quietly, asking all violators of any law for their classification and registration cards. This we continue to do daily. The accomplishments of law enforcement was a definite step toward the preservation of our national security.

There are other important phases

of winning this war that concern only the home front. Our men overseas and our women overseas will be only as strong as we at home are strong. We are their lifeline. We have the responsibility of furnishing them with everything they need. As we stand on the edge of the assault of Hitler's fortress, we at home are faced with the definite problem of morale. It is up to each of us to make sure that we help the general morale of the community by not repeating rumors and gossip which may come to our attention concerning the war. When you hear un-American rumors affecting the war effort it is your responsibility to report them to your police officials who in turn, working with the FBI, try to find the source of the rumors in an effort to determine whether they are malicious gossip or definitely enemy propaganda. If some soldier should die tonight because of the lack of blood plasma, the person who passed the false and malicious rumor that the American Red Cross gets paid for the blood plasma which citizens donate should be charged with the responsibility for the death of that soldier. But no soldier will die tonight for the lack of blood plasma because this ugly rumor was exposed and patriotic Americans at home sent their lifeblood to the fighting front. There are amongst us today, certain individuals who fled to the catacombs when they heard of the successful efforts of organized law enforcement. Today they are awaiting their chance to break down our morale and impede our efforts. Tonight I urge you to be the eyes and ears of the community and to report any un-American activities to your law enforcement officers and to we of the FBI. Remember the slogan, "Tell it to the FBI and not to your nextdoor neighbor." Remember that we, as law enforcement officers, have pledged to investigate our cases in a thoroughly American way and that pledge will be kept on any un-American activities which you may report. This is the only way by which we at home can preserve our internal security.

Today we are threatened with another serious problem, the problem of juvenile delinquency. We at home must definitely curtail this problem. I do not have the time to discuss the many causes of juvenile delinquency. I believe that we are all agreed that juvenile delinquency is caused primarily by the lack of discipline at home which is the definite responsibility of every mother, father and guardian of the youth of the land. The lack of discipline in our schools and in our churches complete the general picture which is responsible for whatever moral letdown there has been on the part of youth. It is the responsibility of parents, teachers and our church leaders to work together with the service organizations and social agencies of our community, augmented by our judges, prosecutors and police officials so that we may make sure that we know what particular problems face the community and then adopt the necessary corrective steps that will be needed to erase the specific conditions which are causing juvenile delinquency. Many a mother and father working in war factories claim they do not have time to give attention to the proper guidance of their children. To win this war we must all do more than our share and this cannot be accepted as an excuse for the lack of parental guidance and care. Many of our young people today are making more money than they ever made before and they erroneously believe this financial independence entitles them to liberty of action and they are disregarding the recognized moral standards of the country. We can only expect youth to take example from their parents and the elder people of the community. When we find a definite letdown in the moral fiber of adults of the community we can expect the results which our crime statistics are showing today. Of all the persons arrested for robbery, burglary, larceny and auto theft, 42% were less than 21 years of age. Persons less than 25 years of age were responsible for 60% of the robberies, 65% of all burglaries, 51% of the larcenies, and 81% of the auto thefts. More than half of all the crimes against property during 1943, were committed by persons under 25 years of age. As we speak of juvenile delinquency and observe a lower age group, it is interesting to note that youth under 21 years of age was responsible for 37% of the larcenies, 39% of the robberies, 55% of the burglaries and 65% of the automobile thefts. The sad part and the indictment of the community rests on the fact that the youth of 17, for the first time, is the greatest criminal class. It is to be noted that male arrests for the age of 17 years increased 37% during 1943. The second largest criminal age group was the youth of 18. In 1943, males under 18 years of age increased 39% for rape, 39% for robbery, 27% for burglary, and 23% for auto theft as compared with 1942.

War has a definite effect upon every community and our figures are startling when we realize juvenile delinquency among the young girls of the community is in some instances definitely alarming. Female arrests in 1943, occurred more frequently at the age of 18, followed by the age of 19. This is the lowest age group since we have been keeping statistics for the past twelve years. Figures for girls under 21 years of age arrested disclosed a 47% increase in the year 1943, over the year 1942, and figures for 1944.

are showing a definite increase over the year 1943. For offenses against common decency, the number of girls under 21 arrested during 1943, increased 56%. This includes such offenses as drunkenness, vagrancy, disorderly conduct, prostitution, commercialized vice and other sex crimes such as adultery and fornication. Crimes against property such as robbery, burglary and related offenses indicated the arrest of girls under 21 years of age increased 36%. Miscellaneous violations show arrests increased 53%. When we compare 1943 with the year 1941, we find an increase of 130% in crime among our girls under the age of 21. These facts indicate the need for each community to intensify its efforts to stop the rising tide of delinquency and juvenile crime. It is not the responsibility for any individual group to effectively stop this rise in juvenile delinquency. It is necessary to have the wholehearted support of every parent in the community, every teacher in our schools, every clergyman and every member of every service and social organization in our community. They should meet and work together because this is definitely a community problem. If we wish to preserve the internal security of this country, we must not only look at what we are doing today, but we must look to the future to ascertain the type of leadership we will have in the next generation. Our future judges, statesmen, doctors, lawyers, as well as teachers, and our future mothers of America are going through the formation stages of their lives. It is our responsibility to make sure that by proper example and by proper discipline we leave impressed upon them the need of a strong moral background, the need of a community free from corruption and the need of responsible public officials. This is the real battle of the home front today. It is your duty to accept this challenge and to complete your responsibilities by assuring the fighting men abroad that the community they left will be a better community when they return. In this protection of our home front we must win. Acting together we will win. When we emerge from this war victoriously, we will be able to see that we at home did our work in a democratic manner. We Americans, tonight, should make this pledge in completion of our celebration of "I Am An American Day." In doing this we will be performing our duty and have the right to say, "I Am An American."

Brewster Given A Short Reprieve

plants at Johnsville, near Hattboro, and Long Island City.

The plants, which employ about

12,000 men, now are working only one shift a day.

It was estimated that had the Navy carried out its threat to have the Corsair contract, 8,000 workers would have been laid off immediately, inasmuch as nearly half the planes called for in the contract already have been completed.

In its formal notification of the impending termination, the Navy Department stressed that its action with regard to Brewster is a part of a general cutback on its fighter plane production program, and that two other companies producing Corsairs—Vought and Goodyear—also will be cut, though to a lesser degree.

Brewster, the Navy said, was chosen to bear the major impact of the curtailment order "because it is the smallest producer of Corsairs, has no additional Navy contracts, or prospects of any, and further because of its higher production costs than either of the two other companies in this particular production field."

The Navy said there is "no dissatisfaction with the management of Henry J. Kaiser (who resigned last Wednesday as Brewster's president) or the new management headed by Preston Lockwood, New York attorney, and a group of former Kaiser executives, which has just taken office."

Just before he resigned, Kaiser announced he had increased Brewster's production of Corsairs by

344 percent, and had reduced the labor man-hours per plane from 27,000 last September to 9,500 during the first week of May. The company twice was commended during the last two months by the War Production Board for its recent production record, and the War Labor Board called that record "nothing short of astounding."
